

Principles of High Quality Online Parenting Education:
Lessons from Parenthetical
Recorded: 9/23/13

Wisconsin Family Living Extension specialists, Steve Small, Rebecca Mather and Anne Clarkson, share lessons learned from 3 years of development, implementation, and evaluation of an online parenting education platform for parents of 10-16 year olds. This site combines characteristics of a parenting website, blog and social network to support best practices in parenting. Benefit from their findings with tips to improve and support your online outreach.

Other resources:

Gelatt, V. A., Adler-Baeder, F., & Seeley, J. R. (2010). An interactiveweb-based program forparents in stepfamilies: Development and evaluation of efficacy. Family Relations, 59, 572-586. doi: 10.1111/j.1741-3729.2010.00624.x

Duncan, S. F., Steed, A., & Needham, C. M. (2009). A comparison evaluation study of web-based and traditional marriage and relationshipeducation. Journal of Couple & Relationship Therapy, 8, 162-180. doi: 10.1080/15332690902813836